Help Start Our Sigma Theta Mu Chapter!

Sigma Theta Mu, the Systems Honor Society:

- Was founded at the 25th Anniversary International Symposium of the International Council on Systems Engineering in July 2015
- Acknowledges the maturation of systems engineering and related fields
- Recognizes high scholastic, scientific, and professional attainment in the study and practice of systems, systems-related engineering, or systems engineering
- Is for undergraduates, graduates, and alumni

Honor societies allow us to recognize those who excel in scholarship, leadership, and initiative. However, the establishment of a chapter requires our students and faculty to unite and obtain approval from both university administration and Sigma Theta Mu.

Chartering our chapter is free...and the one-time $50 fee to induct students includes:

- Lifetime membership
- Membership certificate, lapel pin, and honor cord
- 1-year student membership in INCOSE (the International Council on Systems Engineering)
